

Poplar Street Primary School

Behaviour policy 2018/19

Purpose of this policy

This document provides the framework for the creation of a happy, secure and orderly environment in which children can learn and develop as caring and responsible citizens. It is written for the benefit of all members of the school community, to enable everyone to understand the policy of the school and to apply it fairly and consistently.

Our policy and practice is underpinned by and measured against the principles illustrated below:

We believe that everybody in our organisation has a right to expect these things and a responsibility to foster and deliver them. They are the benchmark against which everything we do is measured. They are not aims, to be delivered somewhere in the future, but a set of beliefs that we consider to be the foundation of what we do for every child, every member of staff, every member of our community – every day. These principles are discussed and agreed by all and underpin the work we do in upholding British Values as identified by the UK government.

Our aims for behaviour are that all children will:

- Achieve their potential in terms of self-esteem, academic achievement, self-discipline and spiritual awareness
- Be tolerant and act with understanding and consideration for the rights, views and property of others, regardless of race, gender, religion or sexual orientation
- Develop a positive, responsible and co-operative attitude towards work
- Take a pride and a responsible interest in caring for their environment, their community and, as far as possible, take responsibility for their own actions
- Develop into citizens who exemplify the values within their later life, supporting and promoting British Values as identified by the UK government.

In this policy, it is our aim to develop the positive atmosphere and ethos that is so important to the learning and personal development of every pupil in our school. We recognise the need to involve everyone concerned with the school within this process:

This policy is fundamentally linked to the work done through Personal, Social and Health Education (PSHE) and Sex and Relationships curriculum which aims to teach our pupils how to exemplify and actively promote the school's values. It is underpinned by thorough and regular input from pupils through our wellbeing and Enterprise Councils.

Procedures:

We use our school values as the blueprint for acceptable behaviour for the whole of our school community.

- ☑ We show respect to everyone
- ☑ We celebrate all successes and achievements
- ☑ We learn from our mistakes
- ☑ We make school happy, safe and welcoming
- ☑ We respect and help our community
- ☑ We all help to make learning creative and fun
- ☑ We work together to help everybody to learn
- ☑ We're always reaching for that next step!

Class Dojo:

This online parent/carer communication system enables adults in school to acknowledge pupils' good choices, with feedback being sent instantly to the parent or carer. For every choice acknowledged and rewarded by the adult, the child receives a Dojo point. A weekly award ceremony is held to celebrate both the highest scoring classes and individuals in each department as well as identifying the most commonly awarded of the school's values. It is also used to communicate to parents and carers those occasions when a child's behaviour has undermined these values.

Reward Systems

We encourage acceptable behaviour by consistently recognising, highlighting and rewarding appropriate behaviour which underpins and promotes our values. All adults in school explain and demonstrate the behaviour we wish to see, ensure that feedback is constructive and actively encouraging the children to be responsible for their own and others' behaviour. Children are praised for effort, achievement and appropriate behaviour. We believe that our reward system will encourage children to work hard, behave well and work together. It will not only apply to academic achievement and success but also celebrate examples of good citizenship and acts of kindness and consideration. The system will be applied consistently by all staff throughout the school. There are three aspects:

Intrinsic reward	Promotes a child's feeling of self-satisfaction in their own achievement
Individual reward	Will recognise and reward a child's individual efforts and achievement
Whole class award	Will acknowledge the teamwork and collaboration exhibited within a class/group

Teachers are encouraged to use their own reward and acknowledgement systems at class level which, when used alongside the school's Dojo system, support and promote high levels of self-determined good behaviour and attitude.

Merit badge system

Accumulation of Dojo points will lead to the awarding of merit badges. The merit badge system is graded to enable children to be recognised for their continued success in their learning and decision-making.

Merit badge order: green, yellow, red, book voucher, bronze, silver, gold, choice of reward.

(this list is not exhaustive)

Traffic-light System

We operate a traffic-light system across school. This is a highly visual indication to children that 'it is good to be green'. If a child's behaviour is deemed to be inappropriate, their name will be moved from green to yellow. This is a non-consequence reminder to the child that they are behaving unacceptably. If they modify their behaviour sufficiently well enough over the course of a lesson to meet the agreed expectations, they can move their name back to green. If they continue to behave inappropriately, they will move their name to red. This will be followed by a sanction (usually time-out), formally recorded on Class Dojo with parents informed. Following a period of modified behaviour, the child may return to green.

Consequences

Whilst our policy encourages good behaviour and self-discipline through positive reinforcement and good modelling, occasionally children may behave inappropriately. We realise the importance of a consistent approach when dealing with any misbehaviour. We adopt a 'least to most intrusive' approach across school, dealing with poor choices and misdemeanours in a sensible progression, encouraging children to reflect on their choices and return to a state of positive self-determined behaviour. It is expected that, whilst inappropriate behaviour must be effectively addressed by adults in our school, they must also look beyond the action of the child in a bid to find the cause. By using the Class Dojo system, staff members will support the school in investigating patterns of inappropriate behaviour so that effective support can be offered to the child in removing any barriers to learning. This may involve redress to the child protection policy and procedure. Recognising that certain inappropriate behaviours are more serious than others, the following are suggested in levels of scale (this list is not exhaustive):

Low-level, least intrusive (time-out or sanction recommended: key stage 1: 5 mins; Key stage 2: 10 mins)

- Talking at the wrong time
- Constantly shouting for attention
- Persistently out of seat
- Causing a minor disturbance to other children at work or play
- Making unnecessary noise
- Use of inappropriate language (not swearing)
- Name-calling
- Rough play fighting
- Encouraging others to misbehave

Mid-level, more intrusive: (time-out or sanction recommended: KS1: 10 mins; KS2: 20 mins)

- Behaving disrespectfully (arguing aggressively/answering back)
- Significantly interfering with someone else's work or play
- Continuing to cause a disturbance
- Continuing to make unnecessary noise
- Deliberately damaging or stealing property
- Swearing
- Throwing objects
- Encouraging others to misbehave significantly and repeatedly

High-level, most intrusive: (time-out or sanction recommended: KS1: 15 mins; KS2 30 mins)

- Repeated refusal to follow instructions
- Verbal abuse of an adult
- Fighting or intentionally hurting other children
- Racial, cultural, gender-based or homophobic abuse
- Bullying

Effective strategies for encouraging appropriate behaviour:

- Give pupils work that is relevant, interesting and matched to abilities
- Expect and reinforce positive choice and appropriate behaviour through praise and rewards and good modelling
- Organise yourself and the classroom well
- Be seen as fair and consistent
- Encourage pupils to take responsibility
- Develop good relationships with pupils, parents and staff
- Lead by example
- Being inconsistent/unpredictable
- Having too many/confusing/unnecessary rules and restrictions

- Show children that you value their effort/effort and hard work beyond anything
- See beyond the behaviour in a search for the underlying causes

Important things for adults to avoid:

- Being too negative
- Losing your temper
- Punishing whole groups
- Using /severe/unnecessary sanction
- Labelling or anticipating poor behaviour
- Being verbally abusive
- Making idle threats or false promises
- Acting as a poor role-model

Behaviour Outside of the Classroom

We aim to provide a consistent approach to promoting appropriate behaviour, wherever learning takes place. Therefore, we expect all of our staff (lunchtime/after-school etc) to reward using the same method. Where staff do not have ready online access to Class Dojo, they will use the tear-off pad provided to identify to the teacher which of our values has been displayed/exemplified or which has been undermined, and the sanction given. This will be recorded by the teacher/classroom staff member in the manner described above.

Initially classroom or lunchtime misbehaviour will be dealt with by Classroom or Midday staff members, more serious misbehaviour should be referred to the class teacher, then if required, to the assistant Head teachers or to the Head Teacher.

Continual or Escalated Behaviours:

In recognising that significant and repeated inappropriate behaviour is very often caused by other factors, we aim to ensure that children can be supported at an enhanced level so that they can learn to self-moderate. School employs a trained SEND and pastoral team who will intervene and support the child until behaviour improves.

Following the identification of concerns by a staff member or parent/carer, we would investigate three potential pathways:

1. Emotional: a child's behaviour may be affected by circumstances or issues which are impacting on their emotional wellbeing. There are many and varied reasons which could impact a child's emotional state, including the possibilities that the child is subject to external factors which require safeguarding support and intervention. School is well placed to support children in overcoming these barriers, including the investment in a highly trained pastoral team, the deployment of an expressive-arts therapist
2. Medical/Developmental: a child's behaviour may be affected due to a medical or developmental issue or condition. This would be addressed through a SEND pathway and is covered by SEND policy and practice
3. Environmental/social: a child's behaviour may be affected by factors which pertain to their social circumstances; e.g. home life/family interactions/school-based perceptions. School safeguarding policy makes clear how these issues should be reported and addressed. We remain resolute in our belief that it is our responsibility to leave no stone unturned in the pursuit of supporting children in happy and successful, both in school and out. We act in all cases where we believe that environmental/social/family circumstances are negatively impacting a child's school life. These actions are often proactive: e.g. using our PHSE and SRE policies to teach our children what healthy family life should look and feel like; supporting families experiencing hardship through deployment of food parcels; offering a free-to-all breakfast club; support for parents through the use Parentgym*. Actions can also be reactive: e.g. speaking to and working with parents when a report is made by a staff member or child which raises an environmental or social concern; referral to social services when reports are raised which indicate the potential for elevated risk to a child (safeguarding policy and practice is used in the management of these cases).

In all cases, staff are instructed to act with objectivity and without prejudice, with the only aim to remove a potential barrier to learning.

*Parent Gym provides parenting programmes free of charge to schools and children's centres in the state sector. [The] programme has been designed by leading psychologists and is suitable for parents of children aged 2-11. The sessions are highly interactive and participative... Parent Gym programmes are facilitated by our Parent Gym Coaches. Some of these are volunteers from the community, others are in-house staff members based in schools or children's centres. All our coaches go through rigorous screening, training and assessment to prepare them to deliver Parent Gym; they then receive ongoing support, mentoring and training.

BULLYING

Poplar Street is a place where everyone has the right to be themselves. It's a place where everyone can feel safe, be happy and learn. Everyone at our school is equal and acts with respect and kindness towards each other. Our school is a bully-free place.

What is bullying?

Bullying is when a person is hurtful or unkind to someone else, on purpose and more than once. Bullying can be done by one person or a group of people. A useful way to remember bullying is

SEVERAL TIMES ON PURPOSE

Bullying can be:

Physical: e.g. kicking, hitting and damaging their belongings.

Verbal: e.g. name calling, threats and making offensive remarks.

Indirect: e.g. spreading nasty stories about someone, gossiping and leaving someone out from social groups like games.

Cyber: sending nasty emails, online messages, texts or making nasty phone calls.

Bullying can be about:

Race, ethnicity, religion or belief

Sexist bullying, e.g. saying that they are acting 'like a boy' or 'like a girl'

Special educational needs or disability

What someone looks like

Where somebody lives

Aims

- To eliminate incidents of bullying
- To deal with bullying effectively
- To work together to create and maintain a secure, calm and healthy learning environment
- To record and analyse incidents of bullying
- To monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the anti-bullying policy
- To review the anti-bullying policy to inform future practice

General principles

- Our work is based on mutual respect and we value and respect everyone
- Our curriculum is aimed at preventative approaches to bullying and intimidation
- No-one should have to tolerate bullying because bullying hinders learning
- Everyone in the school community should know and understand the school's policy on how to respond to a bullying incident
- A response to bullying must be made and seen to be made

Implementation

Our anti-bullying policy will be implemented through:

- Consulting and informing staff and pupils about our anti-bullying policy
- Providing opportunities for pupils to behave positively
- Staff/adults in school providing positive role models
- Promoting anti-bullying through assemblies
- Teaching themes in PSHE e.g. friendship, conflict, trust, power
- Encouraging group tasks and discussions on anti-bullying strategies
- Promoting anti-bullying values and co-operative behaviour through the curriculum
- Discussing in School Council and providing feedback from the pupils

Guiding principles for dealing with Bullying

Poplar Street School takes incidents of bullying seriously. When bullying is reported it is dealt with quickly and in an appropriate manner

- Time is the key; so pupils feel supported, respected and valued
- The needs and problems of both the person doing the bullying and the victim need to be taken into account
- Bullying must never be ignored by members of staff, whether it is reported to, or apparent to them
- All members of staff must remain vigilant
- All staff are expected to act as positive role models in their relationships with pupils
- Discussions about incidents should take place in private
- Care needs to be taken when involving parents
- If in doubt about dealing with bullying seek guidance

Procedures

The procedures outlined under the point system of our Behaviour Policy will be implemented

The 'no-blame' approach:

In the first instance, pupils who are perceived to have bullied should be given an opportunity to act restoratively, supported by staff members trained in the 'no-blame' approach to conflict resolution.

- A teacher will talk to the perpetrator and find out why s/he is bullying others
- The incident will be logged and proven cases reported to the Council, (parents to be informed of this)
- The behaviour of the perpetrator will be monitored
- Should further incidents occur the parents of the bully will be informed and involved
- It may be decided the perpetrator needs further help
- In very serious cases the Head Teacher will decide if further action needs to be taken

APPENDIX 2

Dealing With Racist Incidents

RACISM – A racist incident is any incident which is perceived to be racist by the victim or any other person.
(Stephen Lawrence Inquiry)

Legal obligations

Schools in Tameside have had guidance available since 1987 advising them of the need to have a clear policy towards racist behaviour. This requires:

- That all schools record racist incidents
- That all recorded incidents are reported to Governors
- That all recorded incidents are reported to the pupils' parents/guardians, school governors and LA
- That the numbers and self-defined ethnicity of 'excluded' pupils are published annually on a school-by-school basis

Aims

- To eliminate incidents of racism
- To deal with racism effectively
- To work together to create and maintain a secure, calm and healthy learning environment
- To record and analyse incidents of racism
- To monitor and evaluate the effectiveness of the anti-racism policy
- To review the anti-racist policy to inform future practice

What is racism?

Racism is defined above but may include the following behaviour or actions:

- Incitement of others to behave in a racist way such as bringing racist leaflets, magazines or computer software into school
- Physical assault against a person or group because of colour, race and/or ethnicity
- Verbal abuse and threats
- Derogatory name-calling, insults, racist jokes and language
- Racist graffiti – wearing racist badges or insignia and other provocative behaviour
- Racist comments during lessons
- Attempts to recruit other pupils to racist organisations and groups
- Refusal to co-operate with other people because of their colour, ethnicity, language, accent or dialect
- Ridiculing someone because of their cultural differences
- Incidents may not involve a direct victim and these are described as 'victimless'. This is where, for example, a pupil makes derogatory comments about a particular racial group but there are no members of that group in the classroom.

General Principles

- Poplar Street is an anti-racist school
- We work in partnerships based on mutual respect and we value and respect everyone
- Our curriculum includes preventative approaches to anti-racism
- No-one should have to tolerate racism because racism hinders learning
- Everyone in the school community should know and understand the school's policy on how to respond to racist incidents

- Consulting and informing staff and pupils about our anti-racist policy
- Providing opportunities for pupils to behave positively
